Mr. Butler introduced a bill to revive the grade of Lieutenant-General of the Army. It provides that a Lieutenant-General shall be appointed by the President from among those officers of the grade of Major-General most distinguished for courage, skill, and ability. Mr. Feffer of Kansas Introduced a bill "for the relief of the people of Indiana." In a presamble the nature of the relief provided for is explained. The people of Indiana the presamble says, are now laboring under the grevious burden of enormous interest charges made possible by great scarcity of money, the direct consequence of legislation favoring the credit-owning capitalist and hostile to the wage carner and producer, reculting in the enforced morgaging of the lands of the people of Indiana to such an extent as threatens the loss of such lands to their present owners and occupants."

The bill provides that the Secretary of the Treasury shall issue $100,000,000 in Treasury notes directly to the people of Indiana upon first mortgage security upon any and all real estate lying within the State, to the amount of cachall the cash value of lands fixed by the Board of Lay Commissioners of Indiana. For this issue the Government is to receive a tax of two per cent, per year. Citizens to whom these Treasury notes shall be issued are to mortgage their lands to the Government to secure a promissory note payable to the United states Treasury in twenty years or sconer, at the option of the mortgages, the amount of mortgage their lands to the Government to secure a promissory note payable to the United states Treasury in twenty years or sconer, at the option of the mortgages, the amount of more summand and property may be levied on, and if this is not sufficient to pay the amount due, then the County Auditor is directed to sell the property at auction, or the lands fray purpose, and what contracts, if any, for construction on either objects have been made by said company. Mr. Morgan challed for any purpose, and what contracts, if any, for construction on either other objects have been made by said company.

Mr. Morgan then surrendered the floor to Mr. Allen of Washington, who read a prepared speech advocating the construction of the Micaragus Canal and Incidentally culogizing the vast resources and advantages of Washington State and Puret Sound.

Mr. Morgan said the condition of the canal was such that the Congress of the United States own of it to the country, as well as to the company, that whatever action was taken should be taken speedily. If Congress was not going to adopt the pian suggested by the Committee of Commerce last session or some other plan of giving the assistance of the United states to the canal, it was a duty it owed to the company and to the people to get out of the way and let the company build the canal in its own way. So he had concluded, and the Separtir on Ohio (Mr. Sherman) agreed with him, that it was best to bring this question up as early as possible, so that the whole ground could be inspected narrowly and a just conclusion reached. If the United States could not help this company to build this canal so as to gain that control over it which he thought the United States could be larged to have to have if we want the United States could be the United States could be set out of the whole ground could be inspected narrowly and a just conclusion reached. If the United States could be set out of the way and the party and a subtraction of the United States could be set out of the whole ground could be inspected narrowly and a just conclusion reached. It the United States could be set out to have if we want the United States could be set to be a set of the united States could be set to be set to be set to be a set of the united States could be set to be set cuision reached. If the United States could, not help this company to build this canal as as to cain that control over it which he thought the United States ought to have. If we must postpone this, then let us postpone the whole matter and rely upon the sublimity of luck to get that control hereafter which the United States, as the controlling power on this hemisphere, was sooner or later bound to acquire from strong power must control the canal. Mearagua could not any more than Exploit could control the Suez Canal. He proposed to take control of it now, much as England took control of the Suez Canal, only England waited until the canal was completed and bought the bends in the open market.

Mr. Morgan's resolution, as amended by Mr. Vest, was unanimously adopted.

Mr. Dolph called up, in order that it might have the right of way for Monday, his report can the buil for the distribution of the Mexican Claims Commission award, known as the Well and La Abra claim. Which has been before Congress many years.

Mr. Yest asked if it would suit the Senator.

and La Abra claim. Which has been before congress many years.

Mr. Yest asked if it would suit the Senator from Oregon to have this matter made a special order for Monday a week.

It was ultimately agreed by unanimous consent to postpone the consideration of the bill until Monday week and then to give it preference after the morning hour.

The Senate then, at 1:40 P. M., adjourned until Monday.

House of Keprosentatives. Speaker pro tem. McMillin called the House to order promptly at noon. The attendance of members was rather sparse on the floor. being confined largely to those who had bills yet to introduce. Mr. Springer (Dem., Ill.) moved that when the House adjourned it be to meet on Monday next. A division was called for, and the vote was announced as 127 to 34. Mr. Ed. Taylor (Rep., Ohio) said that no quorum had voted, and the Speaker ordered a fount Mesers. Springer and Taylor to act as tellers. The result was announced—yeas 144. bays 27—and the motion was declared adopted. Mr. Richards (Dem., Tenn.) offered a resolution, as privileged, instructing the Committee to Printing to investigate the errors in indexing the Congressional Record of the present esion and to devise some means, if possible for preventing such errors in the future. Several members raised points of order that the resolution was not privileged and should go to a committee

He was taken to the Democratic cloak room, and in two minutes it was whispered all about the Senate wing that Senator Hill was present. Immediately every Senator in the building went into the cloak room, and the sound of aughter and the buzz of conversation was perfectly audible in the big room outside the glass doors. The public, too, had become aware of the fact that Senator Hill was on deck, and there was twice the usual crowd in the galleries, all anxions to get a gilmpse of the popular party leader. Just before 12 o'clock, the report of Gov. Hill's presence was sent over to the House of Representatives, and in an incredibly short time the space back of the Senator's seats was crowded with Representatives who came to testify their admiration of the victorious New York Democrat. After the Senators is the cloak room had had an opportunity to welcome and congratulate Senator Hill he entered the chamber escorted by Senator Carlisle, and took his suat at the dosk assigned him between those of Senators Brice and Daniel, on which was placed a basket of beautiful red roses. As each Senator who had not already had an opportunity to grasp him by the hand entered the chamber, he at once made his way to Senator Hill's seat, and the process of congratulation was again gone through with.

When Vice-President Morton Trapped for order and called on the Chaplain for the regular morning prayer, the desk of the new Senator was surrounded by Senators and members of the House. All this time Senator Hiscock had been seated at his desk in the centre of the Republican side, and it was supposed that he was going over to consult with his Democratic colleague. On the contrary, he halted in the main aisle, and in the most abrupt and dramatic fashion, without a word of introduction, aid:

"Mr. President, David B. Hill, Senator elect from New York, is present and ready to take cratic colleague. On the contrary, he halted in the main aisie, and in the most abrupt and dramatic fashion, without a word of introduction, said:

"Mr. President, David B. Hill, Senator elect from New York, is present and ready to take the oath of office."

The big Republican Senator then walked over and took his Democratic colleague by the arm, and amid a profound silence escorted him up to the Vice-President's desk, where Mr. Hill swore to support the Constitution and faithfully perform the duties of a Senator. Then he signed the roll, was congratulated by the Vice-President, Secretary McCook, and the other officials, and marched back up the aisle with Mr. Hiscock to his seat.

The first man who took Mr. Hill's hand after he was sworn in was Representative Cummings. By this time the number of Representatives present had increased to thirty or forty, and under the leadership of Mr. Catchings, Speaker Crisp's licutenant, they were formed into line and formally presented to the New York Democrat were from the North, East, South, and West, Among them were Newberry of Illinots, Whiting of Michigan, and others prominent in the present House.

All the time that the new Senator was holding his reception the Republicans looked on with amusement the crowd in the galleries craned their neeks to see all that could be seen, and the Democratic Senators took no realist oconceal their admiration and pleasure at the honors shown to their New York Colleague. The Senator adjurned early, and Senator Hill went back to the Arlington, after attending to a few routine matters incident to his initiation to the Senate. He found a pile of cards and a number of visitors awaiting him. Altogether, the arrival of Senator Hill and the demonstration following it indicates that he will continue to be in Washington, as he was in New York, a great party leader.

After Senator Hill had returned to his rooms this evening, having lunched with several friends, including his silver critic, Senator Hill senator his friends, including his silver crit The Chair ruled that the resolution was priv-leged, and thereupon it was passed. and thereupon it was passed.

SENATOR WILL CONGRATULATED.

An Unusual Scene in the Senate Chamber

when He Took His Seat.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 .- David B. Hill to-day took the oath of office as a Senator from the State of New York, and at once assumed the active duffes of the position. A seat was assigned him on the Democratic side of the Senate, and he was made a member of the Com-mittees on Immigration, Territories, and In-er-State Commerce. The reception to Mr.

Hill, before and after he entered the chamber.

was as sincere as it was unusual. It is no exaggeration to say that seldom, if ever before,

was there such a scene on the floor of the Senate is was enacted this morning in honor of the Democrat who is now the junior Senator from the State of New York. Generally speaking.

the swearing in of a Senator is a mere matter of routine, attracting little attention. There have been times when prominent leaders on either side, who have been absent from the Senate, were on their return welcomed with enthusiasm by their party friends, and some unusual notice taken of their re-appearance in the chamber. This was so in the case of Gen. Logan. After he returned from his long and successful

fight for reflection to his last term, the Repub-

shook his hand in congratulation. One or two complimented in a like manner by their friends, but none of these men received the enthusiastic reception accorded to Mr. Hill today, which was as remarkable as it was sig-nilicant. The demonstration was a great surprise to the Republican Senators, and hardly

The visiting cards were those of the Demoratic Senators, a few Republicans, including Senators Sewater and Stockbridgs, and a number of the leading Democratic Representatives. Senator Hill said there was no significance whatever to be attached to his chance encounter with Senator Stewart at Chamberlin's. It was merely that mutual friends had brought them together, and focular courtedes had been exchanged on the Stewart coinage letter, which Senator Hill laughingly groused himself from answering. Senator Hill said that he would remain in Washington through the present shree days' recess, and that he does not contemplate returning to Albany for some time thereafter.

THE TARIFF PROCLAMATION.

President Harrison Gives Notice that it Will be Issued on March 15.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 .- In view of the provison in the reciprocity section of the Tariff law of Oct. 1, 1890, making it the duty of the President, after Jan. 1, 1892, to suspend by proclamation the free admission of sugars, molasses, coffee, tea, and hides against such countries producing these articles as, after that date, maintain tariff duties upon any agricultural and other products which he may deem unequal and unreasonable, the Presi question whether the law authorized him to saue a proclamation fixing a future day when the duties imposed by virtue of the proclamation would take effect. The Attorney-General has given an opinion that the duties must attach and be collected on and after the date of the proclamation, and that a future day cannot be named by the President.

Owing to this decision, and to the fact that justice to importers of the articles named in section 3 of the Tariff law requires that a reasonable notice should be given of the Presi-dent's intended action, Secretary Blaine tosonable notice should be given of the Freshdent's intended action. Secretary Blaine today sent notes to the diplomatic representatives of Austria-Hungary. Colombia, Hayti. Nicaragua. Honduras, Spain, Philippine Islands, and Vonezuela, informing them that on the 15th of March next the President would issue his prodamation, unless in the mean time some satisfactory peciprocity arrangement should be made with the countries named, declaring that, in view of the free admission of the articles named insension of the raticles named insension of the articles named insension 3 of the tariff, the product of these countries, he deemed their tariffs on agricultural and other products of the United States to be unequal and unreasonable, and that, as against the countries pamed, he would issue his prodamation on March 15 next, suspending the provisions of the Tariff inw relating to the free introducties into the United States of sugars, molasses, coffee, tea, and hides exported from such countries, and on and after that date the duties fixed in section 3 would be imposed. The notice to Spain, however, only applies to the Phillippine Islands. Negotiations with France and some other countries have reached such a stage as, in the opinion of the President, to warrant the Secretary of State in witholding notice to them of a proclamation affecting their products.

Paying Out the New Sliver Coin. Washington, Jan. 7.-The Treasury is now paying out to banks, in sums of $50, the new silver coin. There is a very large demand for it, and the $5.000 received to-day did not begin to supply the demand. A supply sufficient to meet all requirements will be on hand to-mor-row in Washington, and within a few days all sub-Treasuries will be able to issue all asked Speaker Crisp Much Better.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.-The condition of Speaker Crisp showed great improvement today. His son said this evening that his father ate a good breakfast to-day, after which he sat up and read the newspaper, the first time he has done that since Dec. 23.

Washington Topics.

In diplomatic circles the opinion prevails that the hitch in the Bohring Sea negotiations at present is the change in the attitude of the British Government regarding the number of arbitrators. The original proposition to which the United States assented, was that each country should name a single arbitrator, and these two should agree upon a third. The British Government nowasks that the number be increased to seven, the United States to name two. Great Britain to name two, and these four to choose three more. Some objection is being raised by Secretary Blaine to a change in the original understanding, but if the British Government insists that there shall be seven arbitrators, the United States, it is thought, will yield. President Harrison has been willing from the first to submit the question in dispute to any fair tribunal, and to abide by its decision. He would be quite willing to leave the matter to the head of some leading European country. He has been anxious from the first to bring the matter to a conclusion. at present is the change in the attitude of the

HERE IS THE MON.

New York State, New York City, and the

About two score of tired Republicans of the Ninetsenth district met in Linden Hall, at Sixty-seventh street and the Boulevard, last light, and tackled the situation. The object of the meeting was to look the situation right quare in the face and see what alled it.

Charles F. Bruder presided. Charles G. Cronin, lately Republican candidate for City Court Judge, said that in a Presidential fight the nation swung like a pivot upon this State, and that this State was at the mercy of this city, and that this city wasn't anywhere with-city, and that this city wasn't anywhere without the Nineteenth district.

Mr. Cronin referred to the size of the districk, which caute nearly 24,000 votes. At the last election the Demogratic candidate for Assembly won by a plurality of only 539 votes.
This ied Mr. Cronin to remark that with a littic judicious industry the district could be made permanently Republican, providing the reapportionment scheme didn't step in and break the district up to the detriment of the Republicans.

William H. Bellamy, the Secretary of the Republican County Executive Committee, made a red-hot speech. He said that, in his opinion, Senator Hill was not through with his outrages, and he warned Republicans everywhere to keep an eye on him.

The meeting broke up with many promises that a lot of hard work would be done this year.

DR. HINKSON PROTESTS AGAINST IT. Father Poley's Advice to His Parishioners

Not to Employ Protestant Boctors. Dr. John R. Hinkson of Blissville, Long Island City, has written a public letter pro-tosting against certain statements said to have been made by the Rov. Father Foley of St. Raphael's Church, in Greenpoint and Hunter's Point avenues, Blissville. According to Dr. Hinkson's letter, Father Foley publicly advised his congregation not to employ Protestant doctors. He had been insulted by a Protestant doctor. he said, and insulted by a Protestant doctor, he said, and his parishioners would do well to employ none but Catholic doctors, as Protestant doctors did not consider the safety of the soul.

As Dr. Hinkson is the only Protestant physician in Bilsaville, he says he believed Father Foley's remarks were directed at him. So on the following day he called on the priest, and Fa her Foley told him he might construct he remarks to suit himself. Dr. Hinkson says that on one coasion he refused to let Father Foley see a sick woman until she was out of danger. He says he never knowingly insulted the priest.

Father Foley has been in the parish only about six months. He succeeded Father Fanely, who was transferred to another parish by the late Bishop Loughlin. There was considerable opposition to Father Fanely's removal. Father Foley declines to make any statement about his alleged remarks. Some of his parishioners say they will employ any doctor they choose.

GOV. RUSSELL SWORN IN.

Destrous of Putting Governmental Responsibility More Fully on the Exceptive.

Boston, Jan. 7 .- The new Government of Massachusetts was begun to-day at the State House with the usual ceremony. Gov. Russell after he was sworn in gave a reception in the Executive chamber, which was largely at-tended. The Legislature met in joint convention at noon, and after listening to the Governor's message adjourned until Monday.

In his message Gov. Russell devoted much space to a statement of the rapid growth of the system of Executive Boards, offices, and departments, by which there is no definite power of control vested in any one. The governor argues that this system is harmful to the State and should be changed, so as to give the Chief Executive power that shall fix upon him the full Executive responsibility.

shall fix upon him the full Executive responsibility.

Lagislation is recommended to remedy the evils of the lobby and to limit its influence; to extend the municipal powers of cities and towns: to reduce the hours of labor of women and children in factories and workshops; to protect railroad employees against the dangers to which they are exposed.

The Governor pays some attention to the penal, reformatory, and charitable institutions of the State, and makes various recommendations concerning them. He recommends that the State appropriation of $75,000 for the World's Fair be increased, as, he says, it is not sufficient to pay for such an exhibit as Massachusetts ought to make.

SUING A CATHOLIC CHURCH.

A Terra Cotta Company Seeks to Collect Its Bill Through the Courts.

The New York Architectural Terra Cotta Company of 38 Park row has brought suit in the Special Term of the Supreme Court agninst the Boman Catholic Church of All Spints for a balance of $25,347.00, alleged to be due for materials supplied to the new building at 120th street and Madison avenue. The complaint alleges that the company made a contract with the church in April, 1889, to terra cotta and February, 1890, a further contract to deliver the moulded terra cotta brick. The latter was to be paid for at a stated figure per thousand, while the terra cotta was to cost $28,630 and the tracery $10,110. On June 12, 1891, when the church refused to receive any further materials from the company, the bill amounted to $41,647.60, or which $16,300 had been paid. The Rev. James T. Powers, paster of the church, alleges in defence that the materials were not such as had been contracted for, and that the damage suffered by the church amounts to more than the company's claim. Much of the materials used, says Father Fowers, will have to be taken out and replaced, as it has already become discolored.

Two liens have been filed against the church property. February, 1890, a further contract to deliver

STRICKEN SANTOS.

Two Steamships in Yesterday that It Cost a Mun Aplece to Stop There.

Nearly every vessel from Santos, Brazil. loses one or more of her crew by yellow fever on her voyage into the latitude of frost. The British steamship Ptolomy, which arrived yesterday, left the stricken Brazilian port on Dec. 5. Her chief steward, F. Richards, an Englishman, 32 years old, died on Dec. 16, Englishman, 32 years old, died on Dec. 16, while the Ptolemy was on her way to Santa Lucia from Rio Janeiro, whence she sailed on Dec. 10. She was detained at Quarantine last night for funigation. The stamphip Plato was else detained because one of her firomen. J. Habison, a Scotchman, 30 years old, died of yellow lever on Dec. 14, when the steamship was two days: out from Rio.

Both men probably caught the disease while on shore at Santos. The death rate there for the week anding Dec. 31 was 33.7. The population of Santos is about 10,000. This means 307 deaths a week. Many of the victims are sailors from vessels in the harbor. There has never been such frightful mortality in the town. As the summer does not end until March it is probable that the death rate will increase within a short time.

Is the Rev. John Weth Insane

The Rev. John Weib, who is under sentence of five years in State prison for robbing several churches, was arraigned before Judge Lipincott of the Court of General Sessions a Jersey City yesterday to receive sentence for his lutest thefts of the same nature. When Judge Lippincott told Welh to stand up and asked him what he had to say, the man looked bewildered for a moment, and then excinined: $150,000 and you can't get it. With the articles I took we are going to build a church, and Jesus Christ is going to give us the corner stone."

Judges Lippincett and Hoffman conferred about the case, and Welh was remanded to the county jail for examination as to his sanity.

A New Police Justice in Brooklys

Mayor Boody, Comptroller Jackson, and City Auditor Rutan of Brooklyn appointed Rober Emmet Connolly a Police Justice yesterday to Justice Thomas J. Renna. who became County Register on Jan. 1. Justice Connolly's term will expire on May 1, 1833. He is a lawyer, about 30 years old, and one of the Democratic leaders in the Eighteenth ward. He served two terms in the Assembly from the Eighth district.

They Think She Has Eloped with Capt. Ike Lizzie Lennon, 14 years old, has been miss last, and it is thought she has eloped with the Captain of a canal boat. John Whaley, who works on the docks in Newtown Crock, where the canal boats lie, says he saw the girl in company with a man known as "Capt. Ike" of New London. The girl's father, Patrick Leanon, has gone to New London to look for her.

A 81,000,000 Suggestion.

The Chamber of Commerce yesterday adopte resolutions calling on the Legislature of the hitate to appropriate $1,000,000 for the Chicag Morie ar an area year.

STILL IN DRADLOGE.

nt's Senate Will Not De Bustness Harryonn, Jan. 7.—The Senate convened at noon and the House went into session an hour later. In the Senate there was a wrangle asting nearly two hours, in which the leaders of both sides accused each other of breach of faith. The Republicans accused the Democrats of refusing to stand by their promise to abide by the decision of the Supreme Court as to the Governorship, and the Democrats in-sisted that they had not committed themselves to the Governorship, and the Democrats insisted that they had not committed themselves to any agreement.

It looks now as though the Democratic Senate intends to seat J. J. Phelan, their candidate for Secretary of State. This afternoon a resolution declaring him Secretary was passed, and a committee appointed to confer with a similar committee from the House as to the question of swearing him into office.
The Senate refused to transact any public business. A motion by Mr. Clark, directing the acceptance by the State of the direct tax money refunded by the Government, was quickly laid on the table. The Democratic Senators said that they wouldn't move a step until thelower House had done justice to the Democratic candidates. The Senate adjourned until next Wednesday.

In the House a resolution was introduced by Mr. Jusison providing for the State's representation at the World's Fair. It could not be acted upon, however, as the Democrate refused to consent to the suspension of the rules. The House, too, adjourned until next Wednesday, after appointing a committee of two to confer with the Senato Committee on the Phelan matter.

Deputy Sherts' Auschell's Conviction Re

Deputy Sheriff Samuel H. Anschell, who was convicted of assaulting Mayor Gleason in the Long Island City Board of Health rooms on the night of June 30 last and sentenced by Police Justide Kavanagh to may a fine of $25 or spend twenty-five days in the Queens county juil, has obtained a reversal of the verdiet. In his decision reversing the conviction County Judge Garretson decides that the prisoner should have had the opportunity of presenting his case to a Grand Jury. It is said that Mr. Anschell will sue the city for damages for false imprisonment.

Treasury Agents After Somebody.

Special Treasury Agents McCov and Fullar had consultations with United States Com missioner Shields yesterday. Following these it was said that affidavits calling for the arres it was said that allidavits calling for the arrest of somebody had been prepared. First it was gossiped that fraudulent claims for drawbackshad been discovered, and that the wicked exporters were to be arrested. Second, it was the report that importers charged with defreading the revenue by undervalued importations of tobacco were to be dealt with. The third version of the alleged warrants referred to bad people who smuggle valuable paintings. Nobody would shed light.
